I decided to participate in Erasmus+ staff training mobility since I think it is very important to share knowledge and experience with colleagues and to see different academic libraries.

The purpose was to get acquainted with college and university libraries and to meet the staff – librarians, information specialists and libraries directors.

It was a great pleasure and very good experience to have a conversations and discussions with libraries directors and staffs, to learn from different aspects of their activities and libraries services, to provide my own perspective and vision of modern academic libraies goals and role.

It was also very important to see the different learning zones and how the libraries space is organized.

I was also very glad to visit Latvian National Library.

I would like to mention that I met a great people at Riga. Both Latvian College of Culture and Latvian University colleagues were very professional and nice.

And special thanks to Erasmus+ coordinator from LCC Daiga Bokuma for her highly professional and very pleasant support before and during my visit.
